On the Refreshments page, a column headed "What's available when?" uses icons to try and give a simple assessment of what the establishment offers. For more detail, read the details on the linked page for the establishment, and/or phone to ask. When the column is blank, it is probably because I am not sure what is currently on offer - if you know, please let me know. (N.B. - The current draft is mostly complete, but sometimes just a guess - I will continue to seek firmer information, and update table!)

Category	Icons	Description (in some browsers seen when you "hover over" icon)	Notes
Drinks
		Tea or Coffee	Tea, Coffee, Soft Drinks, and other drinks usually served in unlicensed premises
		Beer etc	The usual range of drinks served in licensed premises, including Beer, Lager, Spirits, Mixers, etc - and in most places Tea or Coffee as well. Open Lunchtime and Evenings.
		Beer etc. : "All Day" Opening	As above, but open "All Day" - typically 12:00am to 11:00pm or a bit longer
Meals : Under Meals and Snacks, "Lunchtime" typically means 12:30 to 14:00 or a bit longer (from say 30min earlier to say 30min later) "Evening" typically means 19:00 to 21:00 or a bit longer "All Day" typically means 12:00 to 20:00 or a bit longer (or sometimes 8:00 - 23:00 or when last person leaves!) Notable exceptions to above are shown in small text.
		Lunchtime Meals	Meals will usually include the option to have more than one course, and will be eating sitting at a table with knives and forks or spoons.
		Evening Meals
		Lunchtime & Evening Meals	Most establishments serving meals will allow customers to have (say) just one course, and many will offer a separate "Bar Snacks" menu as well as the Restaurant Menu"
		"All Day" Meals
Snacks
		Lunchtime Snacks	Snacks will usually be a lighter meal, often just a sandwich or a cake - but sometimes establishments with this symbol offer quite substantial "Snacks", but somehow not enough to regarded as a "full meal".
		Evening Snacks
		Lunchtime & Evening Snacks
		"All Day" Snacks
		Bar Snacks	Bar Snacks will often be just Crisps, Nuts, etc., but will sometimes include a limited choice of Sandwiches, Rolls, Batches or similar
Any of Above
		Blank	Either does not do any food, or memory says they don't (or I've not yet put it in!)
		Any icon followed by ?	Icon shown is "Best guess" based on unreliable and/or possibly out of date memory. means not known if "All Day" or not.

- Webpage - A webpage on a collective site. Some of these are run by the group the establishment belongs to, some by the local village, some by commercial organisations. Sometimes the data is good, but often incomplete and/or out of date.
- WebReview/WebRecommendation/WebPhoto/etc - These are often to the commercial organisations sites which list the names and locations of almost all the pubs in the UK, then invite users to add reviews or recommendations, and the landlord to add detailed information. Links added are to those where (e.g.) the landlord has added nothing, but a few interesting reviews might be worth reading. Others are links to the village website where some information is available.

Note:

There are many websites which list almost all the pubs or hotels in the UK. These sites have a page giving the Name of the establishment, the Address and Phone Number. On many of these pages they have no other information except lots of blank spaces inviting the landlord/owner to supply information, or for users to "Rate" the establishment or to write a "Review". A search for a pub returns all these sites near the top of the list, often well above the one site with useful information. These sites include beerintheevening, information-britain, alpubs, ukpubfinder, pubsquiz, pubtopia, pubslike, enjoyyourmeal, mylocalservices, trustedplaces, pubbinguide, pub-restaurant, fatbadgers, littlelegends, allaboutpubs, local, finder, (as well as lists on sites such as CWN (Coventry & Warwickshire Network) and Local Authority sites which are just lists). Finding a way to avoid reading all these is a challenge! A few however sometimes give good detail, so need to be found - indeed those in green have been given a link or two in my list. The list of names above will have a .com .co.uk .biz or similar ending, and mostly www. in front - I have left those off in order to avoid boosting their rankings in search engines!

On the other hand some generic sites - e.g. www.pub-explorer.com are always worth trying if a search finds them, and almost always give good details.

"What's available when?" symbols and meaning

See Icons Key for table.

Notes about using the linked maps

The Map links are mostly to Microsoft Live maps which I have customised to show all the Accommodation and Refreshment places listed for a given village. For these you will:

- Get the browser filled with a list of marked places in the left pane, and a map in default view on the right containing blue arrows to each place.
- You can zoom to an individual place by clicking the place name
- If you wish, you can change the view to Road, Aerial, Hybrid (Road names marked over Aerial view) or Bird's Eye (where available - a more detailed late-spring-2006 view as seen by a bird flying in from the South - or rotate W, N or E)
- Or manually zoom or pan how you wish, get directions, etc.

The postcode links (e.g. CV12 0JB) are given to a few places which are hard to remember where they are, or are not on the Circular Walks maps. They also link to a Microsoft Live map, but only to the centre of the postcode area, and with no blue labels.

- Icons Key - List of Icons used on Refreshments Table, with descriptions & Notes
- Other Links - Most other links in above two tables are to pages outside this website, but in some cases small pages about a particular establishment are created on this site, with same heading as this page.

This is a draft of the first of a few new pages listing Accommodation opportunities on or near the ACW route, and Refreshment opportunities on ACW and Circular Walks. Below on this page is background and help information under headings:

- Why we have produced these pages
- Limitations to use
- Advice re using links &/or Phone Numbers to get latest information
- "What's available when?" symbols and meaning
- Notes about using the linked maps

Why we have produced these pages

We have frequently had questions such as "Where can we get B&B accommodation near ACW" or "Which pubs are open all day, and do they serve food all afternoon?". These pages attempt to collect information to help answer these sort of questions.

The list of Refreshment opportunities is based on the table in ACW Circular Walks book, but adds those only on the 40-mile walk, and a few extra recently identified. The table is extended by adding columns to help answer more detail questions.

The Accommodation opportunities list is new.

Limitations to use

The information has been gathered from the internet and the collective knowledge of our members and users. At best, the information was correct at the time of updating details for each entry, BUT:

- Information changes, and some will always be out of date,
- The summary information is just that - an attempt to give a simple summary of what is on offer.

Advice re using links &/or Phone Numbers to get latest information

If you want to be sure of the facts, always try to get the latest information from the establishments own website (if they have one) &/or phone to check the latest facts.

The links shown are labeled as below (in descending order of likely up to date status and completeness):

- Website - A website run by (or for) the establishment, usually giving full details and kept up to date
- User Review - A review by an ACW User, in many cases likely to be more reliable than most of those
